Naviair and Entry Point North enters agreement for Online ATSEP training portal

Entry Point North has entered a multiyear agreement with Naviair to provide its technical staff with unlimited access to high-quality online ATSEP refresher training enhancing flexible and efficient maintenance of ATSEP competencies.

Through a subscription service Naviair gains full access to Entry Point North's Online training platform for competence compliant ATSEP training, covering subjects such as COM, NAV, DPR-DP, SUR, and SMC. The solution is designed to give Naviair flexible, always available and up to date refresher training for all their ATSEP personnel.

“ This agreement strengthens our ability to keep ATSEP competencies up to date in a flexible and efficient way. The high-quality online courses and strong support from Entry Point North help us maintain the standards we aim for in Naviair's technical organisation, and we look forward to the continued collaboration,” says Sten Bertram Winther, Head of Compliance, Cyber & Security Advisory at Naviair.

Naviair will receive annual exam and question-level statistics, with enhanced reporting tools expected to be introduced over the term of the agreement. This will provide deeper insight into learning outcomes and support data-driven decisions on future refresher activities. The service also includes learner support from Entry Point North ensuring smooth platform access for all participants. By moving ATSEP refresher training into a structured online solution with Entry Point North, Naviair reinforces its commitment to high-quality, accessible training for technical staff and to maintaining strong ATSEP competence in support of safe and efficient air navigation services.
